 * There are times in all of our lives we have to stop and reflect on what is most important. *
 * We often become so busy living that we can forget what and who we are living for. We * * may not always realize the people we rub shoulders with on a regular basis may be faced * * with life changing events. So with that said, we want to celebrate with those that have * * overcome and share a moment of quiet reflection and prayer for those that today maybe * * dealing with some tragic life changing event. You are not alone. *
